

Now In

HEAVEN

Now that you are in heaven. You've made the trip. You've kept the faith. You've endured the enemy. You've followed the cause.

Now that you are in heaven. Will there be a tomorrow? How long is today? Who is with you? How do you know them? How can you find them?

Now that you are in heaven. Is anything better? Is anything less? Is anything more?

Now that you have made it to heaven. How often is often? How many are few? When is there a lot?

Now that you have made it to heaven. Could anything in your mortal life have made anything different now? Was all of your worrying in vein? What results did your society promote?

Now that you have made it to heaven. Will God make you better? Will atmosphere make you more? Will infinity change your mind?

Now that you're in heaven. Are you basking in confidence? Are you assured of permanent perfection? Will you never have to work again?

Now that you're in heaven. Can you stop being interested in others? Can you stop learning and striving? Will you partake without responsibility?

Now that you're in heaven. Will there be no time? Will there be no travel? Will there be no exploration?

Now that heaven is your home. Will there be no pets? Will there be no garbage? Will there be no misunderstandings?

Now that heaven is your home. Will everyone be the same? Will everyone have the same life-style? Will everyone have the same preferences?

Now that heaven is your home. Will God visit you every day? Will you ever be busy? Can God appear greater?

Now that heaven has seen your eyes. What are your ideals? What attitudes have you brought with you? What mental fixtures will affect your eternal life?

Now that heaven has seen your heart. What does it contain? What do you hold dear? Is there but one way to inhabit eternity?

Now that heaven has seen your feet, Is there but one place to go? Are there no achievements to make? Is there nothing new to discover?

Now that heaven is inhabited by you. Will there be no more societies? Will there be no more differences? Will there be no more minorities?

Now that heaven is inhabited by you. Will population growth stop? Will the universe discontinue? Will no place be afar?

Now that heaven is inhabited by you. What is your motivation? What is better and what is worse? Could not have your newfound existence been lived before?

Now that heaven surrounds you. Will there never be a reason to exit? Does it contain all that you were created to be? Is God limited to its boundaries?

Now that heaven surrounds you. Could your previous life have been better? Were your relationships worthwhile? Have your struggles and learning been in vein?

Now that heaven surrounds you. Will you see what you looked for? Will you see what you expected? Will you make a difference?

Will you be any different in heaven than you were?

Thank you for sharing this thought-provoking writing... it is really wonderful...

I spent the past year studying Spiritual Psychology in California. We were taught that here on earth we are souls having a human experience... and school is definitely in session!
